MASTER OF APPLIED PHILOSOPHY AND ETHICS

Strathmore University

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

Master of Applied Philosophy and Ethics

The Master of Applied Philosophy and Ethics (MAPE) is a two-year, part time program, intended to give the base for the development of any human activity to not only improve a person's technical efficiency and effectiveness but also the general welfare of those in contact with program participants in their communities.

MAPE requires active participation from a student through engaging with literature and research and with assistance from lecturers and supervisors. MAPE is designed to have students spend two weeks on campus and the rest of the sessions are conducted online (reading materials, doing assignments and interacting with lecturers).

MAPE is ideal for those who:
- Have demanding work schedules and would want to pursue a Master of Applied Philosophy and Ethics while still being able to work.
- Employers who are interested in developing the human capital of their companies.
- Professionals who would like to develop their personal and social values.

FOR WHO?

Policy makers like politicians, government officers, lawyers, doctors, military and security professionals, development officers, program directors, human resource personnel and psychologists who are interested in the development of the human areas of their profession ; and any professional interested in philosophy or ethics.

LEARNING FACILITIES
E-Learning

Strathmore University is a pioneer in the use of ICT. Our e-learning system enables students to: view the coursework material that lecturers have posted, submit finished assignments, update their calendars, interact and chat with fellow students, participate in various fora and communicate with their lecturers.

Students have access to numerous computer laboratories, unlimited internet, a wide range of software and e-mail.

A wireless network enables students with laptops and tablets access to the network from various locations around the campus.

Library

The library complex is very spacious with an atmosphere that is highly conducive to private study and research. The wide range of material contributes to the university's excellent academic performance. The library system is available online.

In addition to the physical library, Strathmore University prescribes to various scholarly resources such as e-journals, e-books and articles that all students have access to. These include authoritative databases such as Bioline International, Bepress, Jstor, Emerald Group Publishing, and many more.
